IEYC	Chattering Children Language and good communication skills are one of the most important life skills we can learn. The ability to connect with people and to effectively communicate our ideas to others will affect our personal relationships, our confidence and feelings of self-worth, and our cognitive development. By talking we can communicate and negotiate our needs and wants successfully. We need to feel that we are heard. When you are able to take part in the thinking and learning that is going on in the classroom, your knowledge tends to stick as you are an active participant in your learning. Chattering Children invites children to explore language through play.						Press It, Click It! We can use machines to do lots of things – wash our clothes, cook a meal, take a photograph, play a game, even talk to someone on the other side of the world! We are going to be meeting some very amazing machines and using them in all kinds of exciting ways.					Little Movers Make Giant Strides We need to move to support our brain growth. The greatest skill of all is being able to sit still, but this can only be achieved if we have lots of time to do physical activity. Stand up with your feet together, and imagine that your legs are zipped together. Now close your eyes and be still. Can you feel how you are stopping yourself from falling over? In order to get mastery of our bodies, we need to move, in all directions and for several hours a day!

Children will begin to learn more about their own culture and beliefs and those of others. Helping hands Portraits Birthday & New Baby My Family My Family Healthy me										Christmas Students will learn about the meaning of celebration. They will work in groups to identify symbols found in Christmas art and compare examples of artwork. Students will then create their own Christmas drawings, paintings and crafts.
